A large, pixelated photograph showing two women standing on a sandy beach. One woman is wearing a white dress and sunglasses, and the other is wearing a patterned dress. They appear to be holding kites or long sticks. The background is a bright, overexposed sky and water.

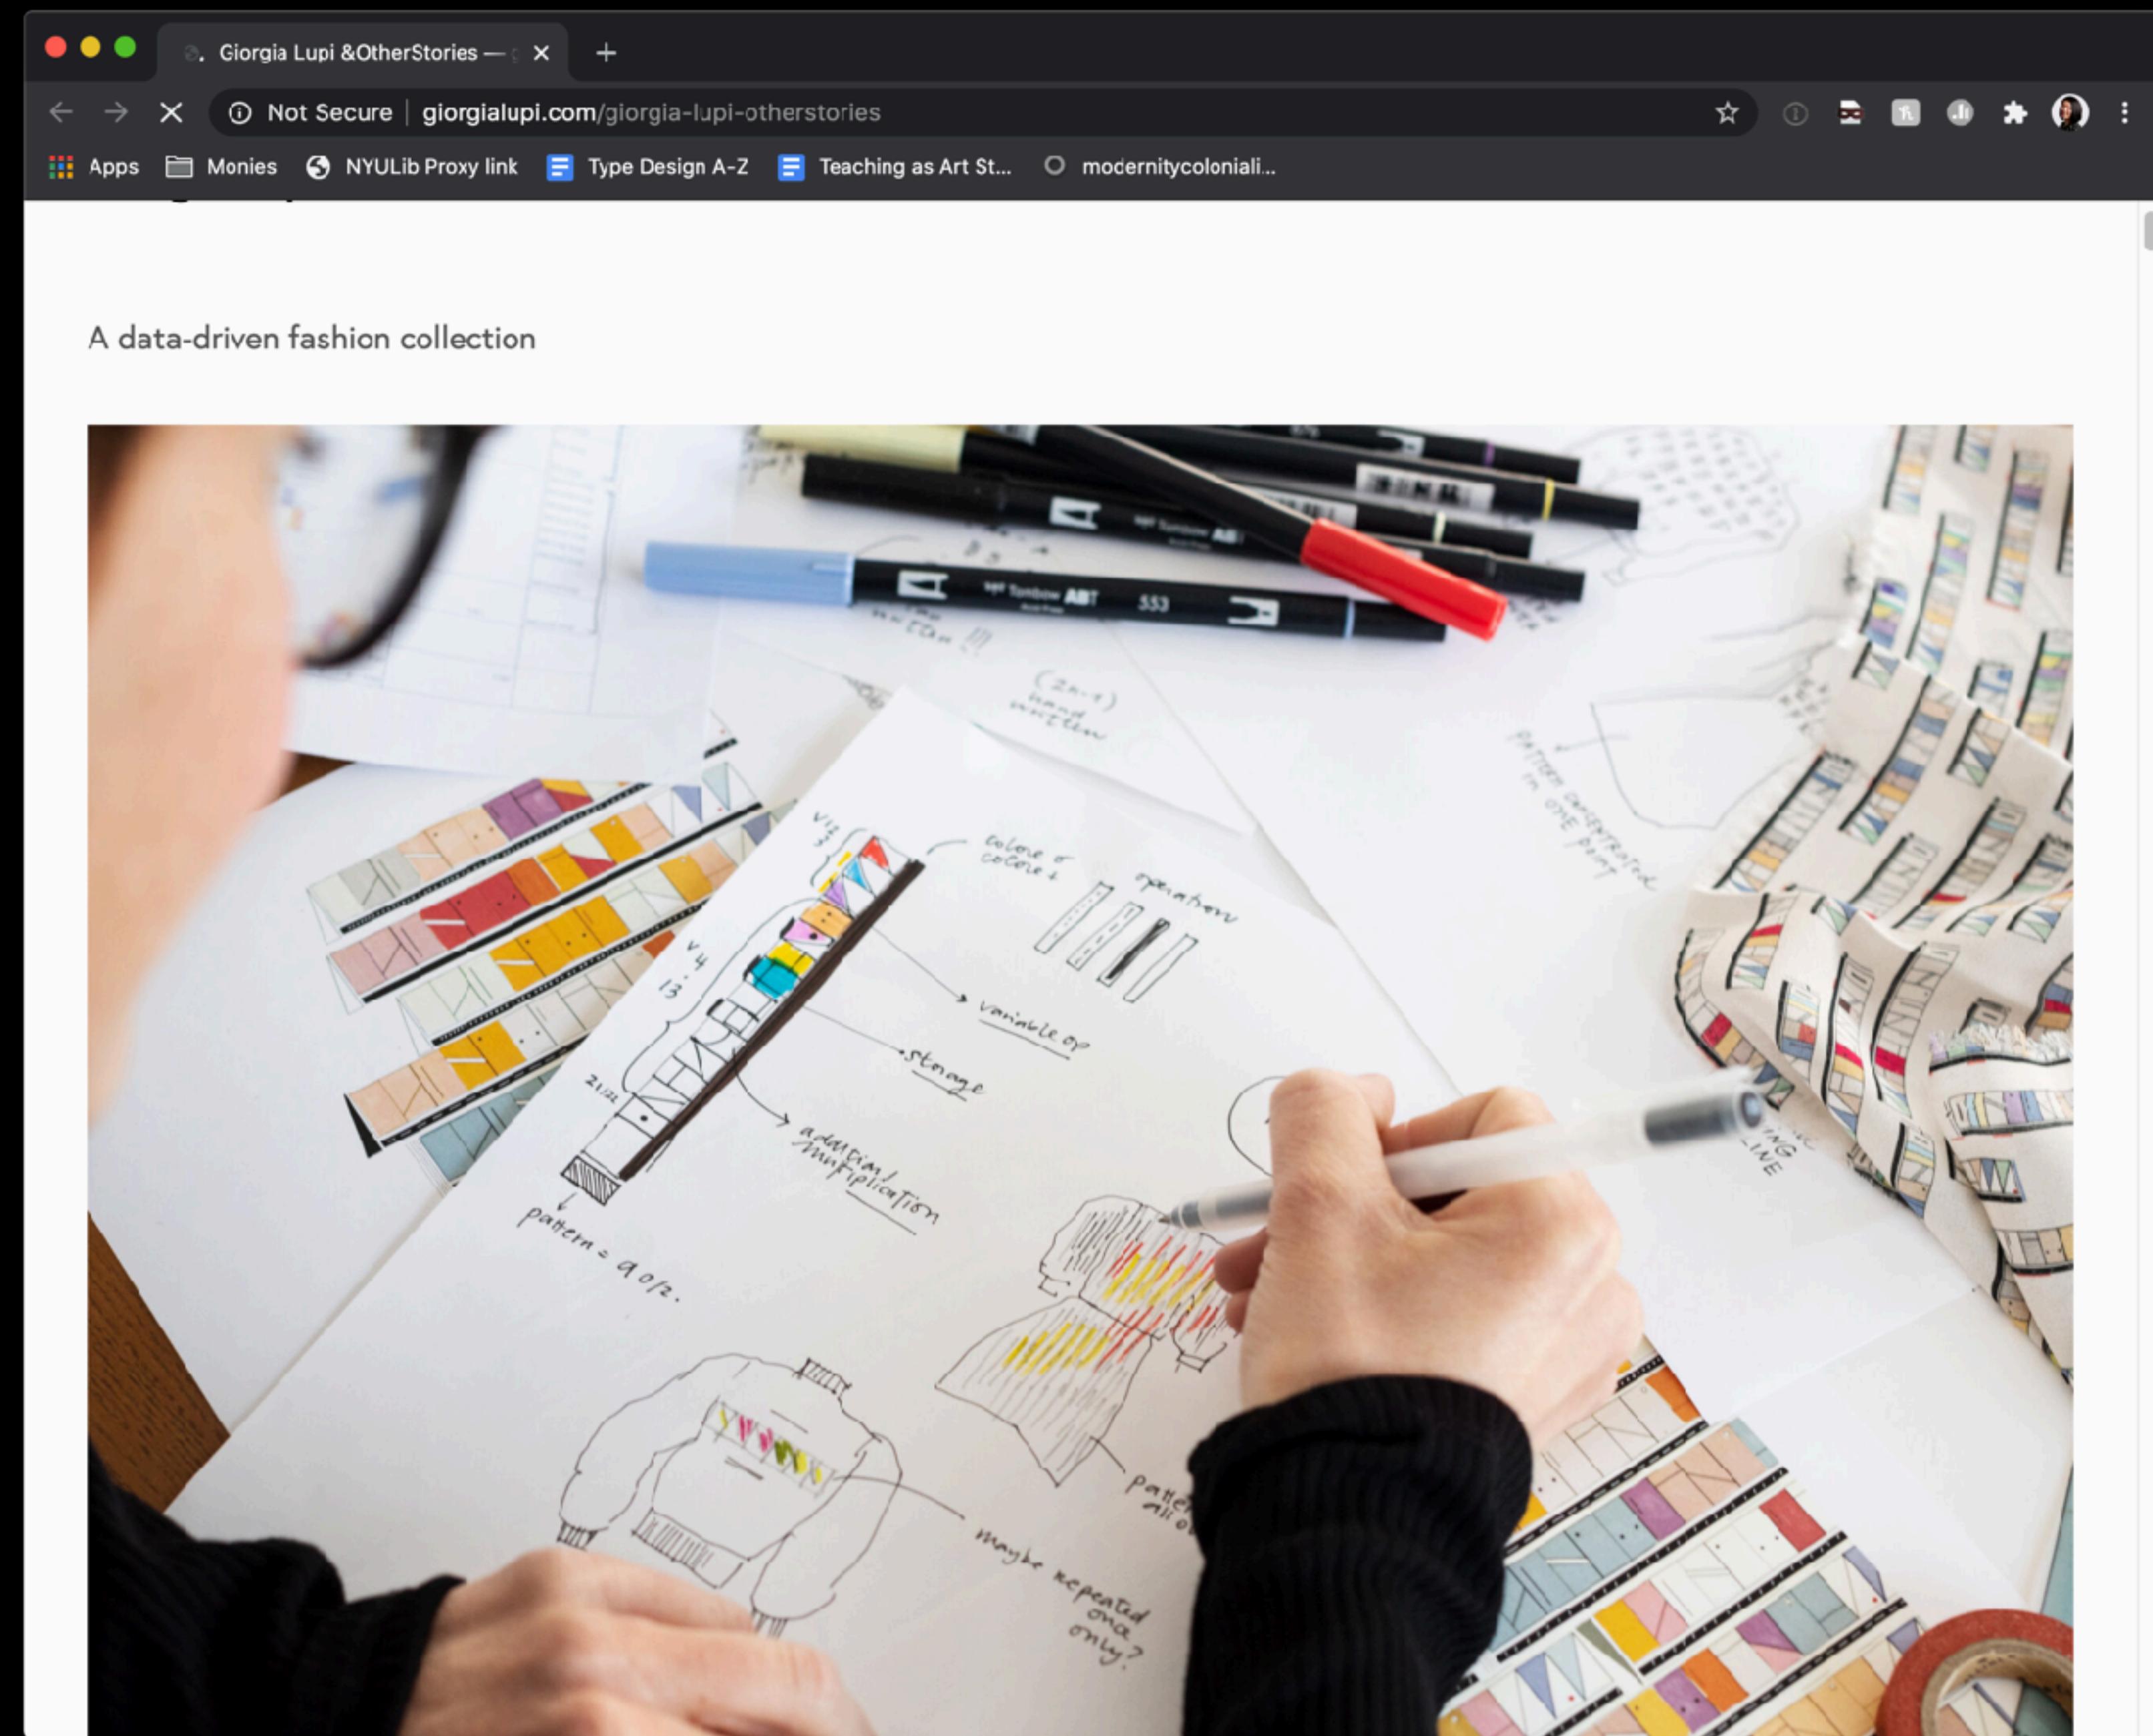

ON THE LINE

on the line is a series of digital and archival explorations started in 2012. I turn most of the images in this series into postcards I send to my grandmother in Addis.
